

New Forum for Mexico RV'ers

There is a new internet forum now established for RV'ing in Mexico. It is located at www.MexicoRVforums.com (case insensitive). The forum is up & functional, and we hope to have it well known & used by next season. Its success will help all of us and the Parks we stay in.

Here is what we hope to do:

- 1) Involve as many RV parks as possible, to post updated vacancy/rate information on a regular basis, so you know what to expect.
- 2) Provide a forum for general discussion
- 3) Find travel companions
- 4) Post road, weather & safety alerts
- 5) Help find people heading southbound who can bring you a needed RV part
- 6) Info sections on Border crossing regulations & hours plus links. Some are up already.
- 7) GPS co-ordinates & web links to campgrounds, maybe advice on routes into them to avoid trees, if located in towns.
- 8) If it is successful I will need moderators and also someone who is bilingual in French & English to run a French language section. Likewise for Spanish.
- 9) Other suggestions welcome.

Contact Paul at admin@mexicorvforums.com